

COVID-19 pandemic and VOSH clinics Updated guidance note

Due to the quickly evolving situation regarding the outbreak of COVID-19, VOSH/International recommends suspending all domestic and international chapter clinics until further notice. At a time when the coronavirus is spreading quickly in many parts of the world, the close contact with patients in a crowded outpatient environment presents significant risk.

Please understand that due to the organizational and legal structure of VOSH/International in relation to its chapters, the organization cannot direct or control the decisions and/or actions of any chapter. We can only provide our best well-informed guidance given the most up-to-date epidemiological and medical evidence.

VOSH/International would like to reiterate that safety for VOSH volunteers and our patients is of utmost importance.
